

A THANKSGIVING MESSAGE FROM NAPR President Spencer Britt

As Thanksgiving approaches, we reflect on the blessings in our lives—family, friends, and the communities that shape who we are. At NAPR, I'm especially grateful for the professional community we've built together, and for my own membership in NAPR. It's a source of knowledge, connection, and inspiration that continually helps me grow, both personally and professionally.

This sense of gratitude fuels my excitement for the NAPR/NALTO® 2025 Annual Convention, happening March 5-7, 2025, at the Sawgrass Marriott Golf Resort & Spa in Ponte Vedra Beach, Florida.

Registration is open, and here's why you should secure your spot today:

1. Learn and Lead: Gain valuable insights from diverse sessions designed to elevate your skills and knowledge.
2. Connect and Collaborate: Build meaningful relationships with peers, experts, and potential collaborators, opening doors to new opportunities.
3. Inspire and Innovate: Explore cutting-edge ideas and strategies that will leave you energized and motivated.
4. Save with Early-Bird Pricing: Register by December 15 to take advantage of discounted rates.

This Thanksgiving, let's celebrate the power of community and the opportunities ahead. I hope you'll join me at the convention, where we'll celebrate our shared successes and continue to shape the future of physician recruitment together.

Don't wait—register today and take the next step in your professional journey.

Wishing you a joyful and grateful Thanksgiving!
